

Constituent Health Care Stories While my colleagues and I review data and talk to health care leaders about the reforms that are needed, the best and most informative input I can gain comes from you, my constituents. That is why I have created this page dedicated to posting your personal stories about the experiences you have had with our current health care system—both good and bad. This online forum has become a prominent place for you to voice your ideas about what we can do to improve health care.
