Dear Mr. Falk:

As members of Indiana's congressional delegation, we write to express our strong support for Saab locating its new U.S.-based production facility in Indiana.

Hoosiers across the state are developing innovative solutions, propelling new technologies to market, and creating products that are shipped around the world. Indiana is known for our rich manufacturing heritage, supported by a strong supply chain and a skilled and diverse workforce. In turn, Indiana offers a unique advantage for global companies like Saab to successfully scale their operations and deliver critical components to our nation's military.

In collaboration with Indiana's defense installations like NSWC Crane and Grissom Joint Air Reserve Base, along with our world-class research universities, Indiana is supporting partnerships aimed at advancing breakthrough R&D and technological advancements in aerospace and defense. Moreover, under Governor Eric Holcomb's leadership, Indiana is making remarkable investments in Indiana's workforce, equipping Hoosiers with the industry-focused skills and training needed for the future.

Working together, across party lines, Indiana has created one of the best business environments in the United States, lowering taxes, reducing regulations and offering fiscal predictability so companies of all sizes can grow and succeed. By choosing to locate in Indiana, we are confident that Saab will be able to effectively execute its new contract, and we pledge our support and cooperation to make this bold vision a reality in the Hoosier state.

Thank you for your consideration and please do not hesitate to let us know how we can be helpful.

Sincerely,

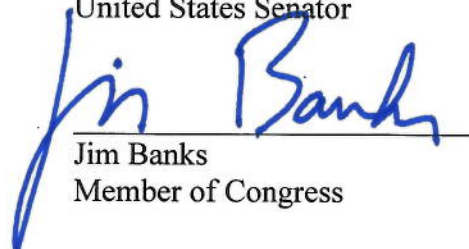

Todd Young
